The Swedish forests are filled with the strangest things...

When a brother and sister find an extraordinary hat, they are plunged into the world of the trolls, where things quickly spin out of control. But help sometimes comes from the most unexpected places... Join Dominic on a storytelling journey into the vast northern forests: through mystery, suspense and a great deal of fun. On the way you'll find out what to do should you ever come face to face with a troll!

Dominic's dynamic, warm and witty performance style has enthralled school, festival and theatre audiences in fifteen countries on three continents. He has lived in Scandinavia for six years, teaching storytelling at Sweden's Royal College of Music and directing storytelling performances for Norway's national stage for folk arts. Dominic personally translated from Swedish the legends on which the show is based.
